E. L. King and Faulkner Kennedy, valued East End subscribers of the I. J. paid it an appreciated call Monday, and told of the splendid crops which the farmers of that part of the county are getting in this year. Neither will raise any tobacco this season. Mr. King says that he had in a crop year before last and got five cents for it, which finished him. Mr. Kennedy has 90 acres of exceptionally fine corn this season. He has 40 acres knee high now and it is looking as fine as silk.

T. J. Durham, who breeds the celebrated Duroc hogs and sells them faster than he can raise them, was also in town Monday for court. He has never had a case of cholera in his pens, and says he never expects to for he has the best preventative medicine in the world, and is thoroughly expert in the handling of this great breed of porkers.

Jones & Co., the local stock buyers, shipped a car of lambs and a car of hogs to Cincinnati this week. They bought them at 6 1-2 cents a pound.
